

EDGAR – Merrill’s Single Source System

Merrill’s sophisticated document production system allows all document formats to be output from one single source file. An edit to only one file saves time and ensures data integrity, which is maintained throughout the life of the document. When an edit is made to the source file, it is automatically reflected in both formats of the document, EDGAR (HTML or ASCII) and Typeset (PDF or Print). When this single-source edit takes place, output can be requested in any form (HTML or PDF) for proofing. Each proof takes only minutes to produce once the edit is made.
